LEGISLATORS OF STATE TO ASSEMBLE

KLAN DRAGON IS WALTON ACCUSER FOR CONDITIONS

Jewett Declares Walton Using Klan to Hang Blame
For Bankruptcy

SCORES EXECUTIVE

Claims Klan to Remain Idle
in Fight to Impeach
Governor.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—A signed statement declaring that Gov. J. C. Walton has made the Ku Klux Klan "a peg on which a political bankruptcy has hanged the tattered habiliments of a grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor," was issued to the Associated Press here today by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma.

Mr. Jewett declared that "despite the insult to klansmen in the offer of 'protection' if they should withdraw from the order, we have been enjoying a record breaking growth in membership in the past few days." He asserted that the Klan is not going to fight back now, but would leave it to the people of Oklahoma to settle the fight.

"Although Governor Walton now admits that he is fighting the Klan, the situation causes us no worry," Mr. Jewett said. "We are not going to fight back now. With a call for a special session of the legislature already issued, with impeachment proceedings well under way with the rising tide of protest from press and public against the method of Walton in employing, there is every indication that the people of Oklahoma will settle the fight."

Pay But No Dance
"The people are not happy. They are being compelled to pay the fiddler without being permitted to dance. Moreover, the impression is abroad that personal motives are playing a large part. They have discovered that Mr. Walton did not frown upon the Klan until he had learned that it did not smile upon him. It is a fact of indisputable record that he was irregularly made a member of the Ku Klux Klan that a membership card was irregularly issued to him and that recognition was then refused him."

"Photographic copies of documents bearing on this circumstance have appeared in several Oklahoma papers. Secondly, there is a personal reason growing out of his political disasters. His administration has been cumulatively unpopular. Six weeks ago he was fighting for his political future; today he is fighting for his political existence."

"What attitude will the Klan take towards martial law in Oklahoma?" Mr. Jewett was asked. "Simply proceed on the even tenor of its way and obey the law in letter and spirit. Klansmen are American citizens first and the only rights they will demand will be the rights of American citizens."

Walton Riled When Teacher Crosses Path

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—Ten members of a junior high school history class were called in as witnesses yesterday at an impromptu hearing staged in the governor's office when Gov. J. C. Walton with two associates went to the building to challenge statements criticising his administration alleged to have been made by Carl Cress, the instructor, before a class, it became known today.

Cress said he was called into the office during the absence of B. F. French, the principal, and that the governor confronted him with the charge. He said he denied having made the statements attributed to him and that with the return of Mr. French the first 10 pupils on the class rolls were called in and questioned by the governor and Charles Ruth, supreme court commissioner, who accompanied the executive. The third member of the governor's party was Buck Garrett, deposed sheriff of Carter county.

After examining the pupils the governor was quoted by Cress as expressing the belief that he had been misinformed and then left.

Thousand Students, College Goal

Today marked the passing of the Fourteenth anniversary of the East Central State Teachers college. In these more or less turbulent years, the student body has grown from a handful of high school students to an enrolment today of 925, the majority of whom are doing college work. This number does not include 154 in the elementary and junior high training schools.

This enrolment will be increased by from 50 to 75 next Monday when more of the summer rural schools close and the teachers flock here for additional training. President Linscheid is thoroughly convinced that not fewer than one thousand young men and women will be doing college work at East Central the last of next week. The enrolment for the summer term was 2,000.

Eighteen new classes had to be started this week, making a total of 153 classes each day. This is in line with the work of the leading universities and colleges in the entire nation.

When the ninth grade was eliminated from the course of study, it was feared the enrolment would drop this fall term. Instead it has increased approximately 25 percent over last year, the high mark until that time.

President A. Linscheid and his faculty are delighted with the start made. Although the heavy enrolment means additional work for each department, the faculty members are rejoicing over this opportunity to serve a wider circle in the state.

Every one of the eleven counties in this district is strongly represented, and several come from other counties. No effort, however, is made to get students from without the East Central district. It is the intention of those in authority to serve this district the best of any teachers college in the United States, and many on the outside say this is being done at this time.

PHYSICIANS NAMED TO CONDUCT PROBE

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—While three physicians appointed by Coroner James Burgess today examined the body of Gladys Lawrence, 13-year-old girl who her father alleges died Sunday as a result of mistreatment by police while under arrest on a grand larceny charge, police are on guard in the vicinity to prevent any demonstration.

Two riot calls were sent to police headquarters last night and early today as a result of alleged demonstrations. John Lawrence, father of the girl, says his daughter told him before she died that the police had abused her and forced her to take ice baths in an attempt to make her confess to the robbery of $100 from Joseph F. Anderson who lives in the same building. He says there were bruises on the girl's body when it was brought from the hospital.

TURN SEARCH IN FUGITIVES PATH

Assailants of Immigrant and Girl Being Sought in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Firemen joined police in searching through west central park and the adjoining apartment district for six men who stabbed a young German immigrant as he sat on a park bench covered his bleeding form with newspapers and dragged the struggling girl away.

The couple was attacked shortly after midnight. Two hours later George Volland, the youth, regained consciousness. He struggled to the nearest park entrance and collapsed beneath a fire box after pulling the alarm which brought fire apparatus and police reserves. He may die.

In the ensuing search two men were routed from a clump of bushes. Margaret Lachman, the girl, was found nearby in a dazed condition. Pursued by a storm of pistol fire as other searchers joined in the chase, two fugitives leaped from a 20-foot cliff. The police leaped after them and later found Alfred Askness, 19, beneath a pile of lumber in the basement of an apartment. He was identified by the girl as one of her assailants. Other officers found Edward Hallett, 24, in the streets and he also was identified by Miss Lachman.

Citizens Calling On Parker to Aid In Louisiana Row

(By the Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 20.—Gov. Parker has made public the contents of resolutions adopted by a mass meeting of citizens of Jackson parish, forwarded to him by a resolution committee charging that "a super-government has been established in Jackson parish" to the extent "of disrupting the judicial machinery of the courts in such ways as to punish innocent persons while the guilty ones go free and practically disfranchise voters who are not in sympathy with the Ku Klux Klan."

The resolutions are signed by W. D. Jeffries and R. L. Hardy as a committee appointed by the mass meeting to appeal to the governor for relief.

Gov. Parker has not yet announced what action he will take.

SNEED WARMS UP REUNION IN WAR ON HOME AFFAIRS

Secretary of State Points Out
Constitution Protection in Address Here.

CONSERVATIVE TALK

No Officer Has Right to Assume Power Not Given
Under Organic Law.

Linking the valor and sacrifice of over one hundred veterans who sat before him in the Confederate reunion assembly this morning, with need of undivided support for the preservation of the liberties of the Constitution in the state of Oklahoma, Col. R. A. Sneed, Confederate veteran and secretary of state, today expounded the principles set out in the constitution and branded attempts being made in the state against the constitution of the United States.

In a short address this morning, Col. Sneed pointed out the conditions in the state and showed the remedy in the following out of the articles of the constitution.

Following is the text of the address of Col. Sneed:

Comrades, I am not a lawyer, or the son of a lawyer, but like you one who believes that our birthright under "The American Constitution," should be forever the guardian angel to keep us in the path of our fathers. This is Constitution Week, let us here commune together as loyal defenders of our rights, "with cool heads, warm hearts and ready hands." Therefore as one of the plain people of this commonwealth, I hold that no officer great or small in the state or nation has a right to assume power not granted by our organic law.

Comrades, "What constitutes a State? Men who their duties know but know their rights, and knowing dare maintain; Prevent the long aimed blow, And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain; these constitute a State."

Week Set Aside

Comrades this week has been set apart as a week for the reading and studying of the many mighty questions of republican form of government contained in the greatest paper ever penned upon the rights of the human race. "The American Constitution."

It is said that republics are ungrateful, that in time we forget to remember with thanks the blessings bestowed upon us by the patriots of a century and a half ago; therefore it is meet and proper that in this presence and on this day, that we should refocus and renew our love and our loyalty and devotion to the greatest Chart that ever freed a patriotic people from a despot's rule, together with the emblem of American Freedom the "Stars and Stripes" under the shadow of which no traitor should live; but the humblest citizen should enjoy to the fullest extent the liberties and blessings inherited from our forefathers; viz: Freedom to Worship God, Freedom of Speech, Freedom of the Press. The right of the people peaceably to assemble. The right of the people to petition the government for redress of grievances and many others. I desire to direct your attention to an opinion delivered by Chief Justice Marshall of the United States Supreme Court, which has been our guide for more than a century upon the question of "whether an act, repugnant to the Constitution can become the law of the land."

Judicial Veto

BOOZE CASES GET COURT ATTENTION

A record run on the violators of the booze laws, of the land will be in prospect when County Judge Tal Crawford wades into the county criminal court docket schedule for his attention October 15.

Out of the 81 cases docketed for hearing, 42 spell charges of some form of violation of prohibition laws. Charges of transporting intoxicating liquors claim the heavy end of booze cases slated for hearing.

With the remaining 39 cases on docket, a healthy majority go toward settling charges for disturbing public worship and other disturbance charges.

Eighteen cases, appealed from city court, will demand the attention of Judge Crawford on October 25 in a special docket. While the style of appeal cases are not on docket, it has been learned that the majority of these are on liquor charges with a number of traffic law charges listed.

KATY BRIDGE AT TYROLA DAMAGED

Six Bents of Katy Bridge
Washed Out; River Now
On Rise

The flood waters of the Canadian again frowned down on the Katy bridge that links the banks at Tyrola and six bents of the structure recently repaired from the spring rains were floating down the turbulent stream today.

As a result of the washout at Tyrola trains over the Katy line from Oklahoma City were forced to detour at Holdenville.

Reports from Tyrola this morning indicated that the Canadian is still on a rampage and rising at the bridge point further threatening the destruction of the bridge.

Freight and Traffic manager M. M. Harwell could not determine the date for starting of reconstruction work on the bridge.

While the Katy is suffering traffic accommodations from the recent rains, the Frisco also drew a part in the flood disaster role when considerable trackage and a bridge between Weleetka and Wetumka was dislodged. Frisco officials here reported that trains are being held up until the bridge and trackage is repaired. Trains are expected to cross the repaired section at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Disaster Feared In Mine District In Fight on Klan

(By the Associated Press)

MARION, Ill., Sept. 20.—The board of supervisors of Williamson county, the scene of the Herrin mine killings, in a resolution adopted today asserted: "People are becoming alarmed and serious trouble seems imminent and is liable to break out at any moment."

The resolution was in connection with alleged laxity of law enforcement and the feeling said to exist between members of the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-Ku Klux Klan organization.

The resolution demanded stricter enforcement of laws, particularly the prohibition law, and members of the board promised their personal co-operation to the sheriff.

VETERANS ENJOY WORDS OF CHEER FROM ADDRESSES and Thursday.

168 NOW REGISTERED

Sons and Daughters Come to Front in Programs of Organizations.

With the reunion on its second day here, Confederate veterans from every section of the state were preparing to unfurl their last remnant of energy in the few remaining hours of the assembly.

Morning and afternoon sessions found large numbers drinking in the news of the day from buddies, whose comradeship has been welded from sixty years of peace after the war of '61.

Veterans ranging from the age of seventy and reaching the limit of ninety summers were registered at the Convention Hall out of the total of 168 Confederate veterans now attending the reunion here.

Veterans were looking forward to the parade of Friday morning, which looms up as one of the biggest affairs ever held in the city. Veterans, Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy will have a prominent place in the line of march.

Friday's feature is the scheduled address of Governor Walton. No official information has been received here either affirming or denying his intention of taking part in the program of the Confederate veterans here Friday.

Sons and Daughters Active.
While Confederate veterans have claimed a full program during the first two days of the reunion here, Sons and Daughters have not been idle in their activities.

Sons of Confederate veterans met this morning and named their officers for the coming year. They also have a prominent part in the program for Wednesday evening at the Convention Hall.

Daughters of Confederacy have been in active session last evening and this afternoon, and at meetings valuable information has been placed before the Daughters concerning matters of importance to the organization.

Several social courtesies have been arranged and held for Daughters during the reunion thus far. Daughters, sponsors, matrons and veterans were entertained at Hill Crest, the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. King Wednesday afternoon. A ball for the maids of honor visiting here for the reunion will be held tonight in the basement of the Convention hall.

Program Followed Out.
The program of the convention has followed the schedule prepared by local camp committees. The address of County Attorney J. W. Dean Wednesday afternoon was greeted with continued applause from the veterans.

The feature of the Wednesday evening's assembly was the address of Col. R. A. Sneed, Confederate veteran and secretary of state.

Sneed again addressed the assembly Thursday morning and received a hearty hand from his comrades. Sneed was preceded by General E. W. Kirkpatrick, apartment commander, whose address on brotherhood needs and aims, was received with hearty applause by the veterans.

INVESTIGATION OF BARNES MINES TO BE CONTINUED

(By the Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 20.—Solicitor J. G. Cotton Store Burns

(By the Associated Press)

BLYTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 20.—approximately 2,000 bales of cotton were burned in a fire which destroyed a large storage shed at the plant of the Blytheville Warehouse and Compress Co. late last night.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—Events in Oklahoma moved today toward a showdown between Gov. J. C. Walton and members of the state legislature over the executive's exercise of authority in his war on the Ku Klux Klan and mob floggers.

A call for an extraordinary session of the lower house to consider a series of charges that Gov. J. C. Walton has taken unto himself the powers of a despot and has supplanted constitutional government with a dictatorship was issued early this morning.

The call was made public by W. D. McBee, representative from Stephens county and bore the names of 45 house members with the promise that during the day the list would grow to 54, constituting a majority of the house.

Fixed for Noon Wednesday.
Noon next Wednesday is the hour fixed for the assembling of the law makers.

Representative McBee declared that he anticipated no attempt by the governor to carry out his threat to jail the legislators in the event that they convene.

"The folly of attempting to carry out his threat to arrest members has been made apparent to him. He realizes that the call is legal and cannot be forestalled," McBee asserted.

At almost the same moment the legislative call was promulgated, Gov. Walton appealed to the people of the state in a proclamation denouncing the attempt of the lawmakers to assemble, charging that those sponsoring the movement are "Klan members of the legislature inspired by the invisible empire and aided by Klan members."

It was asserted by Representative McBee that Gov. Walton in conjunction with Murray F. Gibbons, speaker of the house, was contemplating the issuance of a call for a special session "in a last desperate effort with the hope that some of the boys might be won over to his cause by the show of a desire to remedy the situation that he has created."

Call to Beat Governor.

McBee released the call drawn by house members, he explained, "to bear the governor to it."

When the special session of the house is convened the members present will sit as grand jurors to hear the evidence against the governor and should impeachment be voted the case would go to the senate which would be required to convene to act as a court.

The call for the session declared that the time had come to prove or disprove the charges openly made against the governor.

Civil government in some countries is under control of the Ku Klux Klan and the only way to stop lawlessness in the state is by the military. Gov. Walton declared in his proclamation.

Orders Fiery Crosses Removed.
He ordered the removal throughout the state of all publicly displayed fiery crosses of the Klan.

Instructing civil and military authorities to dismantle crosses where they are found, the governor said: "The invisible empire threatens the sovereignty of the state and is an enemy of the state of Oklahoma. It's flag is the fiery cross now high aloft in many public places evidences the encroachment on the civil government of this state. The cross is an emblem of peace and amity and order and sacred in history but the fiery cross is a pagan emblem of incursion and rebellion. In the case of Tulsa it controlled the civil government and because of the organization's power I know of no way to stop this out-lawry except by the military."

Editors Issue Statement.

Editors of leading newspapers of the state meeting at Tulsa issued a statement last night to the people of the country attacking the governor for what they termed was

FRANCIS.

The Francis Oil Co. will begin the erection of a concrete coal house at their ice plant on East Main street in a very few days.

James Baugh, who lives on Boggy river four miles south of Francis, brought into town last Wednesday the first bale of cotton. He sold the cotton in the seed to Nick Wolf at the gin for $9.29 per hundred.

The deputies flushed a poker game last week and brought in two men charged with gaming. The men gave bond for their appearance at the justice court on the 24th.

Roland Combee, a boy eight years old and son of Vick Combee, shot and seriously injured the little son of Grover Kennedy at Cedar Grove, Friday. The child that was shot is four years old and the gun was loaded with No. 4 shot. The charge entered the child's shoulder. It is reported that the injured child is doing nicely and a good prospect for it to recover.

It is reported that another building will go in very soon between the Richey building and the Miller building on West Main street.

The council has ordered W. H. Hammond to write a curfew ordinance for passage next meeting. It seems that the council is going to get hot after the kiddies of this town and make them stay in and get their lessons.

A number of farmers have planted wheat to make winter pasture and late rains is making it look fine. These pastures will greatly assist the up keep of the live stock.

The Governor's proclamation has worked the people out here up to almost a frenzy. We have no K. K. K. organization here and if there are any K. K. K.'s in town it is more than the people know.

and they feel that the governor has done them a great injustice. The heavy rains have stopped the cotton picking and we hear quite a complaint about the army worms eating all the hay off the peanuts. We have been trying to get an estimate of what cotton would make per acre here this season but there are none that seems to know.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Cattle in Tulsa, Washington and Osage counties are apparently free from contagious diseases, Leslie Bush, inspector of sheep and cattle for the state board of agriculture, reported after an inspection trip into the three counties. Ranges are in good condition, he says.

Says Half Clad Native Ruin Beauty of Sceneay

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated, according to a statement made here recently by Mrs. Whitney Sperry, San Francisco Society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a 75,000-mile jaunt including a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

Mrs. Sperry said she visited the South Sea Islands expecting to find a land of dreams and romance. "I found beautiful scenery ruined by fat, half-naked men and women," she continued. "There was every sort of mixture of race and drink. Prices were three times higher than they should have been. The place was full of half-dressed artists who have 'gone brown,' and everything I ate gave me indigestion. The food was responsible. The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated."

In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side. These are not human wrecks or doddering derelicts, but fine, handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

"The heat is so intense that most women refuse to live there," Mrs. Sperry went on to say, "so the only alternative these men have, if they wish to exchange single blessedness for harnessed cussedness, is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women.

"In Hongkong I met many American and English women stranded without a cent, whose real reason for going to China was to get married. Most of them were more than thirty years old and more or less unattractive. They had heard, incorrectly, that there were so many more English and American men than women in China. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal."

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who have painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof. She says: "I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed in the South Sea Islands. The scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And those beautiful maidens one hears of, they are fat, nearly all of them and floppy. Voluptuous, yes but oh so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation, gone to seed. Of course there are quite a colony of writers and artists, but even a large number of these have gone to seed. What struck me particularly was the number of white men, educated and cultured, many of them successful writers and painters, who have married the native women."

TEACHERS TO BE COLLEGE GUESTS

Important Matters to be Up Before County Teachers Conference.

Practically all plans have been completed here for the annual Pontotoc County Teachers association program to be presented here Friday and Saturday of this week, according to those in charge of the preparations.

Word has been received here to the effect that James William Shepherd, faculty member of the Oklahoma university, will be here for his address on the program. President A. Linscheid of the college will deliver the other address for the event.

The association meeting here for the two days will in reality be more of a home-coming event since the majority of the teachers who will attend the meeting will be former students of the local institution.

A complete program to occupy the attention of the teachers during their two days in the city has been arranged with the best authorities on school affairs in the county slated for prominent parts.

All music for the occasion will be furnished under the direction of A. L. Fentem and by students under his charge.

The proposed election for the school mill levy to be voted on October 2 will be discussed at the meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—While Elizabeth Lwoff-Parlaghy, artist and princess, lies at the threshold of death in her home her bill collectors, like hungry vultures, are hovering about the house.

Once the ruler of palaces whose favor and smiles were sought by kings and princes alike, Princess Elizabeth now has been forgotten by all but a few faithful friends and the horde of collectors.

Gone is the pomp and glory which surrounded her in the days before Hungary was dragged into the World war.

Noted as a portrait painter of kings, queens and other world celebrities when fortune casting its fondest beams upon her, she has now become a hounded creature of misery.

It is said that she borrowed $200,000 from a wealthy diamond merchant here, one Ludwig Nissen. Other creditors are suing her for varying amounts.

The sheriff, on an order from the court, has seized her town house here in which she is lying ill and her country place as well.

In her house here are said to be art collections worth $2,000,000.

These may be sold to satisfy the claims of her creditors who claim that even in the face of adversity Elizabeth has never failed to live in a manner befitting a princess of the old days.

MUSKOGEE.—The Free State Fair at Muskogee October 1 to 6 will have the largest assemblage of fruit exhibits since the opening of the Muskogee fair, according to John A. The display will also be shown at the State Fair in Oklahoma City opening September 22, it is planned.

VETERAN'S SONS ELECT OFFICERS

Duncan Man Named Commander for Year; Other Leaders Selected.

Taking the jump on the "daddy" organization, the Sons of Confederate Veterans association named the officers of their organization for the year when they met in executive session in the Convention Hall this morning.

L. A. Morton, secretary of the Duncan chamber of commerce, was elected division commander of the Sons for the year with John H. Robertson of Oklahoma City named division adjutant.

The Sons claimed a well represented number of delegates from camps over the state, while large numbers of delegates were unable to reach here on account of the heavy rains of the past two days. Twenty-four Sons had registered at the Convention Hall at noon today.

No other official matters were taken up by the Sons after the election of officers but delegates assembled in a get-together meeting and discussed old times with a touch of matters confronting the organization.

Other officers elected at the business session this morning are: Division quartermaster, D. C. Hybarger of Chickasha; division inspector, Clifton Ratliff of Oklahoma City; division surgeon, Dr. Sam A. McKeel of Ada; division historian, W. W. Robertson of Oklahoma City.

DEATH CAR DRIVER GIVEN FOUR YEARS

ARDMORE, Sept. 20.—Oscar Van Noy, former conservation officer of the state corporation commission, was found guilty of second degree manslaughter by a jury in district court here today and sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary.

Van Noy was charged with causing the deaths of Josephine and Lola Wilson, young girls who were run down October 14, 1921 by a speeding motor car, alleged to have been driven by him.

A motion for a new trial was to be filed late today.
S. C. Wilson, aged driver of an ice wagon was returning with his daughters from a circus when the accident occurred. All were struck by the motor, Wilson was permanently crippled and the one daughter who survived suffered a fractured arm and other injuries. At a former trial Van Noy was sentenced to life imprisonment but was granted an ew trial on a writ of error.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

HOW TO GAIN ALL:—Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matt. 6:33.

BY WAY OF REMINDER

On account of a pressmen's strike the people of New York city were without newspapers the greater part of they day Tuesday. Some papers were brought in from other cities by rail and airplane but the number was far short of the demand and copies of these newspapers sold for as much as 25 cents each. The last newspapers published before the strike became effective had contained bulletins of the Berkeley fire. There was frantic eagerness to learn the extent of this fire and in the absence of authentic published reports the wildest rumors were spread.

In New York city newspapers are accepted much the same as water and light and other public services. They are almost indispensable there as they are everywhere. A few days ago under the heading: "By Way of Reminder," the Waco Times-Herald said:

- "Is there a clash between two nations? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Is there a prize fight? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Are there price fluctuations in the markets of the world? The newspaper tells about them.
- "Are there new features in the political arena? The newspaper tells about them.
- "Is there a great disaster by flood or fire? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Is there banditry either far or near? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Are there religious activities at home or abroad? The newspaper tells about them.
- "Are there educational conferences being held? The newspaper tells about them.
- "Is some enterprise for the community under way? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Are their funds to raise for some worthy cause? The newspaper tells about it.
- Is there a football game being played? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Is there to be a change in the weather? The newspaper tells about it.
- "Is there poetry to refresh the soul? The newspaper will print it.
- "An indispensable community asset is the newspaper."—Wichita Falls Times.

THE CONFEDERATE FLAG.

It does not symbolize the sovereignty of a nation, nor the desire of a single individual to tear one stripe from the flag of our country. It marks an era of our history full of heroism; the passing of a civilization developed in and peculiar to the South. It is the badge of a people whose very traditions placed honor above all else. It is a token of baptism of blood that in the very nature of things our country must needs undergo before vital questions could be settled and America enter upon her real mission. The deeds which the flag commemorates are a common heritage of the nation and will in time be loved and esteemed by North and South alike.

Interest in national politics increases as the times draws near for the next meeting of Congress. Thus far only two men appear to have a chance for the Democratic nomination, McAdoo and Underwood. If the Republicans nominate Coolidge, the Democrats are almost certain to put McAdoo at the head of the ticket with Ford for a probable running mate. If the Republicans wander off and nominate some one like Hiram or Magnus Johnson, Underwood may be able to capture the Democratic leadership. Then, again the whole deck may be spilled and a new one brought in to play with. At this time it is an interesting study, but is as uncertain as Oklahoma weather.

It is not always a mark of friendship to tell a man the mean things one hears about him or to assure him that one hates all his enemies just because he is a friend. Nor is it a sign of friendship to inspire him with the belief that he is being pursued by a lot of imaginary enemies and fire him to indignation with tales of what these mythical enemies would do to him but for the faithful efforts of the tale bearer. A man has troubles enough without creating more to worry him.

The sun came out at last, just as it has been doing all down through the ages. Possibly after all the rains were best. Nature generally gives us what is best, though we often are not able to understand it at the time. If the worms and bugs and other insects do not damage the cotton from now on, a small crop will be made. Naturally the crop will be short here as well as throughout the South.

We are glad to see the Confederate Veterans enjoying the association with comrades. The scenes touch one's heart.

Some wit has pointed out that a few dead cigars are the casualties of martial law at Oklahoma City.

NAVY COMPLETES SURVEY OF CUBA

Ten Years Required by Navy to Map Unknown Waters Around Islands.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The United States Navy has just completed another chapter of a ten year job of great interest and importance to mariners and hydrographers. It is the Cuba Survey, the mapping of the almost unknown waters around that island, undertaken in the interests of American shipping as well as of national defense.

Ever since its inspection, it has been the hope of the Navy Hydrographic office to gather and make charts and records of the waters of the entire world, with especial stress laid on charting nearby areas. The Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico are so full of unknown islands and large and small coral reefs and cays, that in 1906 the Cuban government asked this government to undertake a close survey of nearby waters. The Hydrographic office undertook the job.

From 1907 the waters along the Cuban coast from Cape May, the easternmost extremity, to Cienfuegos, were sounded and mapped. The World War brought this activity to a close and it was not continued until early this year, when the personnel was reorganized and set to charting the section along the southwestern coast of the land from Cienfuegos to Cape San Antonio. In this area is the Gulf of Ratabano, bordered by the Isle of Pines.

In making the survey small boats have run lines of soundings across local sectors, taking bearings from time to time upon triangulation signals erected on land and on shoals. A straight stretch of railway track along the Cuban coast was measured for a base line, and with these aids the naval officers have reported completion of the largest season's task of the entire survey. An area of 760 square miles was covered, 180 miles of shore line were plotted, and 6,500 miles of soundings were taken. Because of weather conditions, the survey season was limited to the period from the end of January to about August first.

Many important mistakes in previous charts were discovered. One shoal shown as nearly awash was found to be actually 30 feet below the surface. The mother ship of the survey, drawing 18 feet of water, discovered a channel by which to approach Ratabano, through water therefore accounted too shallow for large vessels to use.

One of the interesting sections plotted by the surveyors was the "White Sea" so called on account of the unusually white sand found on the bottom, the reflection from which almost completely overcomes the natural blue color of the tropic water. It is said that Columbus found this stretch, and was so taken by its oddity that he took a bottle of the water back to Queen Isabella.

Who Causes the Wars?
(Chickasha Express)

Socialists claim that the capitalists cause the wars. The big business men, they argue, grab furiously for trade concessions and commercial advantages and their power over the politicians secures government support for their claims. The various nations get entangled in these controversies, and the sons of the mass of the people have to go to war to protect the enterprises of the capitalists.

This theory sounds plausible to some. But it overlooks the fact that business men suffer more from wars than any other class. Wars destroy property, upset markets, and raise havoc with business and investments. Capitalists are terribly timid about such conflicts, and the moment a threat of war is heard the stock markets begin to crash. No, the business men do not cause the wars.

Some people feel that the military men cause the wars, with the idea that promotions come more rapidly as the armies enlarge and vacancies are made by the casualties of battle. But the military men are ardent patriots, and true patriots do not seek to have their country enter the valley of the shadow of death.

The military men of Germany were a specially warlike type and they were largely responsible for the terrible world war. The military men of America are of a different kind, and few of them want war.

Probably the people themselves, little as they desire war, are yet the underlying cause of it, as the result of their selfish point of view in dealing with other nations. In most countries the politicians grab for all the national advantages they can, regardless of the rights of other nations, feeling that thereby they get more credit from their constituents. When the people of the various countries will look at international quarrels in a fair and judicial light, and be as anxious to have other nations get their rights as to secure their own, wars among nations will cease.

Civil conflicts owe their origin to causes wholly different from those which produce international strife. They are likely to break out when sectional or class interests clash, or when racial and religious passions and prejudices are deeply stirred. Under such conditions a spark may kindle a flame that can be put out only with human blood. The seeds of civil war are being sown when the gospel of hatred and strife is preached.

AMERICAN DEGREES SOLD IN ENGLAND

LONDON. — The Englishman's love of initials after his name has made this country a fertile field for bogus American colleges, which carry on a sort of correspondence curricula and supply degrees at five dollars each according to Dr. George E. Maclean, former president of Iowa University, who has recently been warning gullible Britons against striving for sheepskins from unheard of institutions in the United States.

"I have had a steady stream of people coming into this office with the degree 'B. D.' (Bachelor of Divinity)," he said. "Until they interviewed me they had no idea that the money paid for their degrees had been obtained from them virtually by false pretenses."

"I know an English clergyman who in two years got the degree of B. D., and D. Lit., simply by correspondence. There is one of these 'colleges,' incorporated in Illinois, that has tricked hundreds of English students into parting with considerable sums of money for attractive looking diplomas which are entirely worthless from an educational point of view. The university exists only in name. I have never yet heard of anyone who took one of its correspondence courses and failed to get a degree. Clergymen who wake up late to the value of a University degree, are the most often gulled."

Throughout England college graduates flaunt their degrees in a manner unknown in America. Often a man's calling cards will contain the initials "B.A.," or "M.A." after his name, and clergymen have these degrees, if they possess them, printed on the signboards outside their churches. College degrees are held by proportionately fewer people in England than in America, and more pride is therefore taken in Baccalaureate honors.

an attempt to prevent constitutional address by Oklahoma citizens of the state and suspend the process of republican government.

The editors also urged that the legislature be convened at once. Challenging the governor's proclamation that a state of insurrection and rebellion exists throughout Oklahoma, the editors declared that this is a libel against the free state.

"The paramount issue in Oklahoma today is not a visible or invisible government, as Walton says, but constitutional government or despotism," the editors' statement asserted.

pugnant to the Constitution can become the law of the land, is a question deeply interesting to the United States; but, happily, not of an intricacy proportioned to its interest. It seems only necessary to recognize certain principles, supposed to have been long and well established, to decide it.

That the people have an original right to establish, for their future government, such principles as, in their opinion, shall most conduce to their own happiness is the basis on which the whole American fabric has been erected. The exercise of this original right is a very great exertion; nor can it, nor ought it to be frequently repeated. The principles, therefore, so established, are deemed fundamental. And as the authority from which they proceed is supreme, and can seldom act, they are designed to be permanent.

This original and supreme will organizes the government, and assigns to different departments their respective powers. It may either stop here, or establish certain limits not to be transcended by those departments.

The Government of the United States is of the later description. The powers of the legislature are defined and limited, and to what purpose is that limitation committed to writing, if these limits may, at any time, be passed by those intended to be restrained? The distinction between a government with limited and unlimited powers is abolished, if those limits do not confine the person on whom they are imposed, and if acts prohibited and acts allowed, are of equal obligation. It is a proposition too plain to be contested, but the Constitution controls any legislative act repugnant to it; or, that the legislature may alter the Constitution by an ordinary act.

Between these alternatives there is no middle ground. The Constitution is either a superior paramount law, unchangeable by ordinary means, or it is on a level with ordinary legislative acts, and, like other acts, is alterable when the legislature shall please to order it.

If the former part of the alternative be true, then a legislative act contrary to the Constitution is not law; if the latter part be true, then written constitutions are absurd attempts, on the part of the people, to limit a power in its own nature illimitable.

Certainly all those who have framed written constitutions, contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation, and, consequently, the theory of every such government must be, that an act of the Legislature, repugnant to the Constitution, is void.

This theory is essentially attached to a written constitution, and is consequently, to be considered, by this court, as one of the fundamental principles of our society. It is not therefore to be lost sight of in the further consideration of this subject.

If an act of the legislature, repugnant to the Constitution, is void, does it, notwithstanding its invalidity, bind the courts, and oblige them to give it effect? Or, in other words, though it be not law, does it constitute a rule as operative as if it was a law? This would be to overthrow in fact what was established in theory; and would seem, at first view, an absurdity too gross to be insisted on. It shall, however, receive a more attentive consideration.

It is emphatically the province and duty of the Judicial department to say what the law is. Those who apply the rule to particular cases, must of necessity expound and interpret that rule. If two laws conflict with each other, the courts must decide on the operation of each.

So if a law be in opposition to the Constitution; if both the law and the Constitution apply to a particular case, so that the court must either decide that case conformably to the law, disregarding the Constitution; or conformably to the Constitution, disregarding the law; the court must determine which of these conflicting rules governs the case. This is of the very essence of judicial duty.

If, then, the courts are to regard the Constitution, and the Constitution is superior to any ordinary act of the Legislature, the Constitution, and not such ordinary act, must govern the case to which they both apply.

Those, then, who controvert the principle that the Constitution is to be considered, in court, as a paramount law, are reduced to the necessity of maintaining that courts must close their eyes on the Constitution, and see only the law.

This doctrine would subvert the very foundation of all written constitutions. It would declare that an act which, according to the principles and theory of our government, is entirely void, is yet, in practice, completely obligatory. It would declare that if the legislature shall do what is expressly forbidden, such act, notwithstanding the express prohibition, is in reality effectual. It would be giving to the legislature a practical and real omnipotence, with the same breath which professes to restrict their powers within narrow limits. It is prescribing limits, and declaring that those limits may be passed at pleasure.

That it thus reduces to nothing what we have deemed the greatest improvement on political institutions, a written constitution, would of itself be sufficient, in America, where written constitutions have been viewed with so much reverence, for rejecting the construction. But the peculiar expressions of the Constitution of the United States furnish additional arguments in favor of its rejection.

Art. 1 U. S. Constitution Sec. 9.—The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless where, in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Art. 2—Oklahoma Constitution Sec. 8—All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offences when the proof of guilt is evident, or the presumption thereof is great.

Art. 2, Sec. 10.—The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall never be suspended by the authorities of this state.

Art. 2, Sec. 14.—The military shall be held in strict subordination to the civil authorities.

Art. 2, Sec. 22.—Every person may freely speak, write or publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right; and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press.

Art. 2, Sec. 26.—The right of a citizen to keep and bear arms in defense of his home, person or property, or in aid of the civil power, when thereunto legally summoned, shall never be prohibited.

Art. 4, Sec. 1.—The powers of government of the State of Oklahoma shall be divided into three separate departments: the Legislative, Executive and Judicial, and, except as provided in this Constitution, the legislative, executive and judicial departments of government shall be separate and distinct, and neither shall exercise the powers properly belonging to either of the others.

Our Ship of State

"Sail on, Oklahoma, O Ship of State Sail on, O union; strong and great: Humanity, with all its fears, With all the hope of future years, Is hanging breathless on thy fate: We know what masters laid thy keel,

What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel, who made each mast and sail and rope, What anvils rang, what hammers beat,

In what a forge, in what a heat Were shaped the anchors of thy hope.

My countrymen, God forbid that the day will ever come, when the American people will sit supinely by, and submit to an unlawful act of any official state or national without a protest.

"God give us men; a time like this demands

Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill;

Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; Men who possess opinions and a will;

Men who have honor—men who will not lie; Men who can stand before a demagogue,

And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking; Tail men, sun crowned, who live above the fog,

For while the rabble, with their thumbworn creeds, Their large professions and their little deeds,

Mingle in selfish strife, Lo! Freedom weeps! Wrong rules the land and Justice sleeps!"

"Hope looks beyond the bounds of time, When what we now deplore, Shall rise in full immortal prime, And bloom to fade no more."

Unlawful Acts

Comrades let us set the pace for law enforcement and obedience to the lawful authorities. When you laid down your gun in 1865, you promised to be true and lawful citizens and you have kept your promise. No man or community can afford to endorse mob law; but like good and law abiding citizens I know that you will continue to remain true and lawful defenders of "Constitutional Government" under this republic, and this great commonwealth.
